PRIVACY RESTRICTIONS

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) went into effect on April 14, 2003. Although the law was not initially intended for collegiate athletics, the law holds the University liable for its intent. Thus, Gannon University will not be allowed to comment on any health-related questions concerning our student-athletes. This pertains to coaches, student-athletes, the Director of Athletics Media Relations, the athletic training staff or anyone associated with Gannon University. We ask that you please don't ask questions concerning any injuries or health-related issues. All Gannon personnel have been instructed to answer those types of questions with the following response. "Considering the HIPAA law, University policy does not allow me to discuss that." If you have any questions regarding the HIPAA law and Gannon's policy, feel free to call Director of Athletics Media Relations Dan Teliski at 871-7418.

The Hammermill Center, located on the campus of Gannon University, has been the home for Gannon men's basketball since the 1949-50 season. The Lady Knights began play at the 'Mill during their first season in 1974-75.

The facility was originally known as the Gannon Auditorium, or affectionately referred to as "The Audi" by longtime Gannon faithful. The facility was rededicated and renamed the Hammermill Center in February of 1983 in honor of the Hammermill Paper Company, whose generosity enabled the University to make necessary repairs and improvements.

The Hammermill Center has a capacity of 2,800 with the building packed to the rafters on most conference nights. The excitement generated by Gannon basketball throughout the years has created one of the most awesome atmospheres in college basketball.

Gannon basketball teams have used the electricity in the arena to bolster their play on a daily basis. The Knights posted 20 consecutive winning seasons at home from 1997-2016. They recorded two perfect home records in school history with an 18-0 mark in 2009-10 and a 16-0 mark in 2012-13.
